ALICE KUEHN'S NURSES NOTESExercise and You: Part 2

As we noted last week, the three types of exercise include spiritual, mental and physical. We "exercise" and stretch our spiritual faculties through prayer and meditation, read scripture, study our faith, participate in Mass; we "exercise our mind," with reading, playing board games, and other activities that stretch our minds. Continuing with the third type of exercise - physical activity, where we "exercise our body", there are four basic categories—endurance, strength, balance, and flexibility. The first two categories were described last week and we finish with the last two categories below.

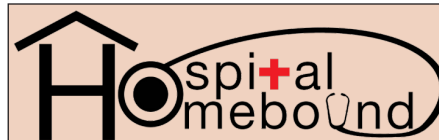

Balance exercises help prevent falls, a common problem in older adults and include suggestions such as standing on one foot, heel-to-toe walk, and Tai Chi.

Flexibility exercises stretch your muscles and can help your body stay limber. Being flexible gives you more freedom of movement for other exercises as well as for your everyday activities and include shoulder and upper arm stretch, calf stretch and Yoga. "Go4 Life" suggests always warm up before stretching exercises—a few minutes of walking works well.

When exercising, to play it safe and reduce your risk of injury:

- Begin your exercise program slowly with low-intensity exercises.
- Wear appropriate shoes for your activity.
- Warm up before exercising, and cool down afterwards.
- Drink water before, during, and after your workout session.
- Dress appropriately for the temperature outdoors.
- If you have specific health conditions, discuss your exercise and physical activity plan with your health care provider.

For additional information, go to <https://go4life.nia.nih.gov/exercises>.
